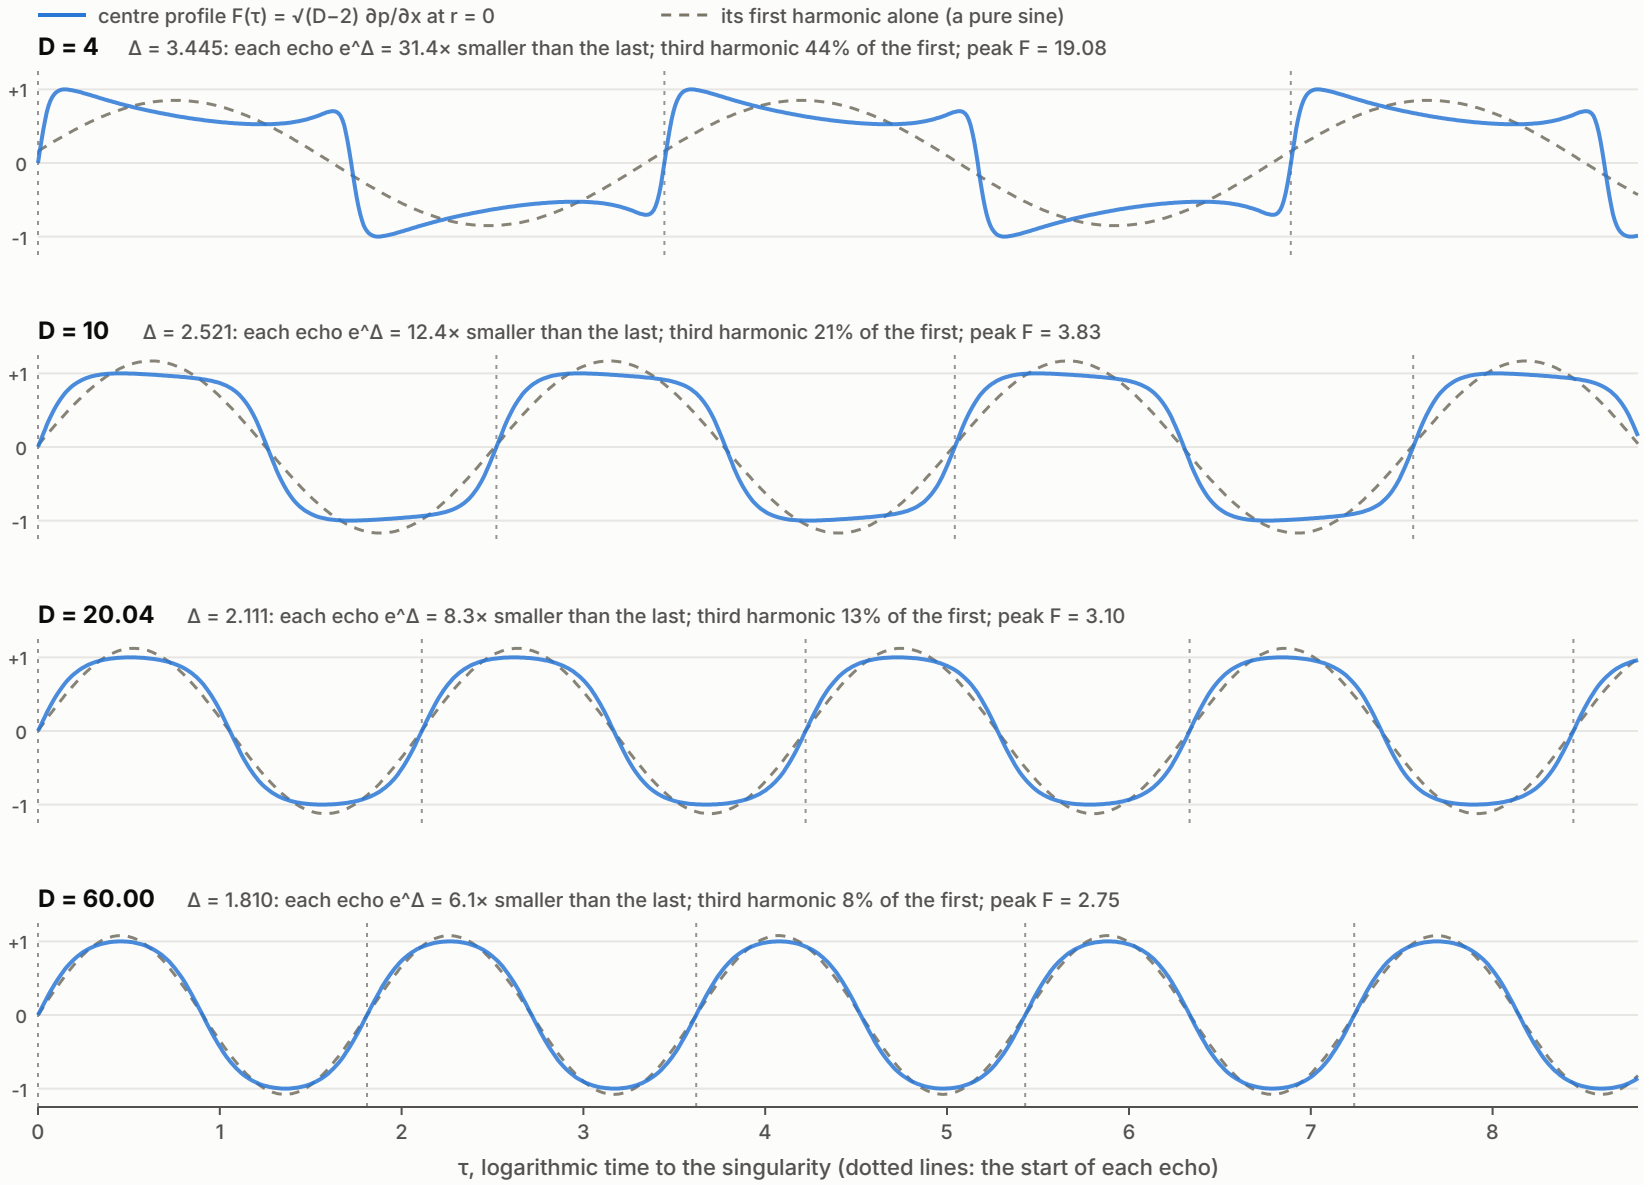
The echo across dimensions


The field's slope at the centre over the same stretch of logarithmic time τ, scaled to its peak. Each echo repeats the last a factor e^Δ smaller; as D grows the echoes come faster and the profile turns into a pure sine.